Other Information Accompanying the Audited Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the other information included in the annual report.

The other information comprises the information included in the annual report but does not include the financial statements and our auditor’s report thereon.

We will not subject such information to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the financial statements and, accordingly, we will not express an opinion or provide any assurance on it. Our responsibility is to read the other information and consider whether a material inconsistency exists between the other information and the financial statements or whether there is an indication that the other information appears to be materially misstated or misleading. We will respond appropriately when we identify material inconsistencies or when we otherwise become aware that information appears to be materially misstated.

In the event we issue a disclaimer of opinion on the financial statements, our auditor’s report will not make any reference to the annual report or to any procedures that may have been performed.

We understand that drafts of the annual report are not expected be available until after the planned issuance of our auditor’s report. We will request management to provide the documents to us when available in order to allow us to complete our required procedures described above. We will have no obligation to reissue our report in such situation to include the results of our procedures performed on the final document. However, if we identify material inconsistencies that indicate that the audited financial statements were misstated, then we will be required to evaluate the nature and magnitude of the misstatement to determine if a restatement of the previously issued financial statements is warranted.

Planned Timing of the Engagement

We succeed in our engagements by collaborating with management through frequent communication. We require the assistance of management and staff to prepare supporting documents, schedules, and analysis and depend on those items to be ready no later than the dates that we mutually agree will meet your deadlines.

We expect to begin our audit on approximately April 27, 2026.

Draft financial statements are expected to be ready in June 2026, and we will issue our report in June 2026.

Planned Audit Scope

We welcome any input you may have regarding the information discussed below. We also welcome any insight you have related to any other risk areas or other significant risk areas you believe warrant particular attention.

Extent of Testing

An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements; therefore, our audit will involve judgment about the number of transactions to be examined and the areas to be tested.

An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

Establishing Our Understanding

An audit also includes obtaining an understanding of the entity and its environment, including internal control, sufficient to assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements and to design the nature, timing, and extent of further audit procedures, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we will express no such opinion.

Communicating Deficiencies or Significant Matters

An audit is not designed to provide assurance on internal control or to identify deficiencies in internal control. However, during the audit, we will communicate internal control-related matters that are required to be communicated under professional standards.

We will also communicate significant matters arising during the audit of the financial statements that are relevant to you in overseeing the financial reporting process as required by professional standards.

Significant Risks of Material Misstatement

We have preliminarily identified the following areas of significant risks of material misstatement due to error or fraud and propose to address these areas as described:

Risk Areas	Audit Approach
Risk of management override of controls	Analyze accounting estimates for bias, test selected journal entries, evaluate business rationale for unusual transactions
Improper revenue recognition	Gain an understanding of revenue recognition policies including a review of applicable rate schedules, confirm selected customer balances, perform revenue cut-off testing, analytically test revenue for reasonableness
Regulatory accounting	Challenge the treatment of certain revenues and costs deferred for propriety with respect to Governmental Accounting Standards Board (GASB) Codification Section Re10, Regulated Operations

Other Procedures to Be Performed

We may also request written representations from the entity's general counsel as part of the engagement.

At the conclusion of our audit, we will require certain written representations from management about the financial statements and related matters.

We may identify additional significant risks as we complete our procedures.

Audit Implications of Significant Changes or Conditions

Critical audit areas

- Related party transactions
- Revenue recognition
- Capitalization of costs for productive capacity/capital assets
- Regulatory accounting and deferral of revenues and costs in accordance with GASB Codification Section Re10, Regulated Operations
- Recording of regional transmission organization (RTO) market transactions

Consideration of Error or Fraud

One of the most common questions we receive from governing bodies is, “How do you address fraud in a financial statement audit?” Our responsibility, as it relates to fraud, in an audit of financial statements is addressed in auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America.

Our audit approach includes such procedures as:

- Engagement team brainstorming
- Inquiries of management and others
- Reviewing accounting estimates for bias
